

Thank you! I'm glad the comprehensive document structure is working well for you. I notice I was in the middle of completing the Video Training Resources document when we paused. Would you like me to: Finish the Video Resources document - Complete Books 6-7 YouTube educators (Wix, Mailchimp, Zapier, Google Analytics, etc.) Create the Side Notes document - Extract any editorial comments, implementation tips, or personal observations that should be separate from the main instructional content Add any specific Community Place details you'd like integrated into the case study sections throughout the 7 books Create additional reference materials - Like troubleshooting guides, cost calculators, or workflow templates The main 7-book series document is complete and ready to use. The video resources are about 80% done. Just let me know what would be most helpful for your Community Place project next! I'm enjoying helping you organize this comprehensive system - it's going to be incredibly valuable for technology-challenged users who want to build their own digital communities.
